REPEAT PRESCRIBING

Patient Information on how to use the Repeat Prescribing System

If you need to remain on a certain medication for some time, your doctor may add this to the repeat prescribing system. This enables you to request specific prescriptions without seeing the doctor each time.

For your safety and convenience, the system works as follows:

- Make sure you have an up to date and correct repeat prescription slip or card. If you do not please ask reception to print you one out or make an appointment to see your usual doctor.
- On the repeat prescription slip or card, indicate clearly which drugs you require. You do not have to order them all each time.
- Allow 48 hours to process the prescription. This enables us to check, record, issue and sign the prescription. We get many requests a day so allow us this time and ensure you do not run out of medication before ordering your repeat prescription.
- On your repeat prescription slip or card there is a review date. If this date has expired you must see your usual doctor
- Not all medications will be put on the repeat prescribing system.
- Orders can be left at surgery, posted, or ordered on-line
- If you send a representative to collect your repeat prescription they may be asked for identification. Please do not send children under 16 to collect your prescription.
- If you have any medicines you no longer take or are out of date, take them to your pharmacy for safe disposal.
- Please do not hoard large quantities of medication. This is dangerous and wasteful.
- Please inform us of any problems you have using the system.

Initial arrangements for issuing repeat prescriptions are made at consultation with the Doctor and will be issued until the arranged review date only. At this point a further consultation may be necessary.

PLEASE GIVE 48 HOURS NOTICE WHEN REQUESTING REPEAT PRESCRIPTIONS

**Please ask about the 'repeat dispensing initiative' whereby prescriptions can be issued for up to 12 months (where appropriate)****

FAQ's - WHAT PROCESS DO I FOLLOW IF I WANT TO.....

ORDER A PRESCRIPTION I HAVEN'T HAD BEFORE?

Should you think you require a prescription for some medication for something you have not had before YOU WILL ALWAYS NEED TO BOOK AN APPOINTMENT WITH A GP.

ORDER A PRESCRIPTION I HAVE HAD BEFORE BUT IS NOT ON REPEAT?

Should you require something you have had before but was not prescribed as a repeat medication then there is one of two possibilities;

- if the medication is available to our receptionists to issue (they have strict guidelines on this) then your prescription will be issued within 48 hours.
- If the medication requested is not on their list of allowed medications YOU WILL NEED TO BOOK AN APPOINTMENT WITH A GP.
The receptionist will advise you.

ORDER A REPEAT PRESCRIPTION?

- Through our web-site or
- You can attend the reception desk at the surgery using the right-hand side of your last prescription.

Due to confidentiality reasons within our reception area, the potential for mishearing medication and the clogging up of the telephone lines, we cannot take requests for repeat or acute prescriptions over the telephone.

BOOK AN APPOINTMENT?

- You can register for 'online access' to your medical record which will allow you to book appointments and order repeat prescriptions through our website.
- You can ring the appointments line either 01484 500759 / 01484 411828
- You can attend the reception desk at the surgery.

HAVE A FORM SIGNED, HAVE A PASSPORT SIGNED

(Please note the doctor signing this will have to have known you personally for at least TWO years)

HAVE A LETTER PROVIDED....

All requests for non NHS work will need to be processed separately. You will be required to leave your forms, passports and letter requests at reception to be passed for the GP to action. Please be aware these can take several weeks to be actioned due to the workload pressures of the GP's. There will always be a charge for non-NHS services (a list of charges can be provided)

NEED A BLOOD FORM?

If you require annual blood test you will need to advise the receptionist of the reason for this and a request will be made to the GP. You will need allow 48 hours for this.

Requests from private providers will require details of what the tests are and the reason for it. Generally speaking the private provider (BMI/ Spire Etc.) SHOULD provide with the blood test forms and therefore you may be referred back to the provider.

WANT A TELEPHONE APPOINTMENT?

The GPs have made provision for TWO telephone appointments in addition to their normal sessions every day. If you just require some advice then we can arrange for the GP to call you back. We cannot state at what time the GP will call as this could be done in between his patients or at the very end of surgery and is dependent on any emergencies.

OBTAIN A SICK-NOTE?

A sick-note can only be issued by a GP when absence from work is required for 7 days or more. If you have been seen at the hospital they should provide you with a sick note if appropriate, where the hospital has not issued you with a sick-note and referred you back to the surgery for one, we will only be able to do this ONCE we have received written information supporting the need for a sick-note.

- SELF-CERTIFICATION will be required for 3-7 days and these can be obtained from reception or downloaded from our web-site.
- CONTINUATION SICK-NOTES if you have been receiving continuation sick-notes we may be able to obtain a further one for you without the need for seeing a GP, however, PLEASE NOTE there may be occasion whereby the GP feels the condition needs a review and may therefore ask you to book an appointment to see him/her.

EMERGENCY DEPARTMENT

Major emergency departments assess and treat patients who have serious injuries or illnesses. Generally, you should visit emergency or call 999 for emergencies, such as:

- loss of consciousness,
- acute confused state,
- persistent, severe chest pain, or
- breathing difficulties.

If you're injured or seriously ill, you should go, or be taken, to an emergency department. If an ambulance is needed you can call 999, the emergency phone number in England. You can also dial 112, which is the equivalent for the European Union.

Major emergency departments offer access 365 days a year and usually open 24 hours a day. Be aware that not all hospitals have an emergency department.

Once you're at an emergency department, a doctor or nurse will assess your condition and decide on further action. You may have to wait a short while before you are seen. There is an operational standard in place for emergency services, where 98% of people attending emergency should be seen, diagnosed and treated within four hours of arrival, to help ensure that the care is timely.

A military veteran is someone who has served in the armed forces for at least one day, and there are around 4.5m military veterans in the UK.

When servicemen and women (pictured) leave the armed forces, their healthcare is the responsibility of the NHS.

All veterans are entitled to priority access to NHS hospital care for any condition, as long as it's related to their service, whether or not they receive a war pension.

All people leaving the armed forces are given a summary of their medical records, which they are advised to give to their new GP when they register.

Military Veterans are encouraged to tell their GP about their veteran status in order to benefit from priority treatment.

A minority of people leaving the armed forces need access to mental health services; others might require it later in civilian life.

Mental health

Six community-based mental health pilot schemes have been launched in Stafford, Camden and Islington, Cardiff, Bishop Auckland, Plymouth and Edinburgh. The scheme provides expert NHS treatment.

For military veterans who don't live near one of these places, they can access the Medical Assessment Programme (MAP), which is available to veterans deployed on operations since 1982.

MAP offers comprehensive physical and mental health assessments for veterans who feel that their condition may be linked to military service.

Veterans can enter the community-based schemes through a number of routes:

- Ask to be referred by their GP.
- Self-register with the scheme directly.
- Friends and families of veterans can contact the scheme.
- Ask to be referred by the Veterans Welfare Service or by charities who help servicemen and women.

NHS Networks

What are primary care networks?

Primary care networks (PCNs) form a key building block of the NHS long-term plan. Bringing general practices together to work at scale has been a policy priority for some years for a range of reasons, including improving the ability of practices to recruit and retain staff; to manage financial and estates pressures; to provide a wider range of services to patients and to more easily integrate with the wider health and care system.

While GP practices have been finding different ways of working together over many years – for example in super-partnerships, federations, clusters and networks – the NHS long-term plan and the new five-year framework for the GP contract, published in January 2019, put a more formal structure around this way of working, but without creating new statutory bodies.

Since 1 July 2019, all except a handful of GP practices in England have come together in around 1,300 geographical networks covering populations of approximately 30–50,000 patients. This size is consistent with the size of primary care homes, which exist in many places in the country, but much smaller than most GP federations. Around 50 networks, usually in very rural areas, will cover a population of less than 30,000, but most are bigger than 50,000.

How are they formed?

Most networks are geographically based and, between them, cover all practices within a clinical commissioning group (CCG) boundary. There are some exceptions where there were already well-functioning networks that are not entirely geographically based. Some networks cross CCG boundaries.

While practices are not mandated to join a network, they will be losing out on significant extra funding if they do not, and their neighbouring networks will be funded to provide services to those patients whose practice is not covered by a network. In some cases, where a single practice has met the size requirements of a network, they are also able to function as a network.

What will primary care networks do?

NHS England has significant ambitions for primary care networks, with the expectation that they will be a key vehicle for delivering many of the commitments in the long-term plan and providing a wider range of services to patients.

Primary care networks (PCNs) will eventually be required to deliver a set of seven national service specifications. Five will start by April 2020: structured medication reviews, enhanced health in care homes, anticipatory care (with community services), personalised care and supporting early cancer diagnosis. The remaining two will start by 2021: cardiovascular disease case-finding and locally agreed action to tackle inequalities.

To do this they will be expected to provide a wider range of primary care services to patients, involving a wider set of staff roles than might be feasible in individual practices, for example, first contact physiotherapy, extended access and social prescribing. Networks will receive specific funding for clinical pharmacists and social prescribing link workers in 2019/20, with funding for physiotherapists, physician associates and paramedics in subsequent years.

They will also be the footprint around which integrated community-based teams will develop, and community and mental health services will be expected to configure their services around PCN boundaries. These teams will provide services to people with more complex needs, providing proactive and anticipatory care.

Primary care networks will also be expected to think about the wider health of their population, taking a proactive approach to managing population health and, from 2020/21, assessing the needs of their local population to identify people who would benefit from targeted, proactive support.

Primary care networks will be focused on service delivery, rather than on the planning and funding of services, responsibility for which will remain with commissioners, and are expected to be the building blocks around which integrated care systems are built. The ambition is that primary care networks will be the mechanism by which primary care representation is made stronger in integrated care systems, with the accountable clinical directors from each network being the link between general practice and the wider system.
